TERME EUGANEE

Wellness that is all-natural.

The Terme di Abano e Montegrotto are Europe's largest spa resorts specialized in mud/bath therapy. The Euganean thermal waters are classified as deep underground waters and travel the significant distance from the uncontaminated basins of the Alpine foothills. They travel fully underground at a depth of 2000-3000 metres and become enriched along the route with mineral salts, to arrive at the Terme Euganee where the water gushes out at a temperature of 87° C. The concentration of minerals in it make the water in Abano and Montegrotto a thermal resource unique in the world. The same is also true of Euganean spa mud, a skilful mixture of natural clay, water and micro-organisms with surprising beneficial, healing properties. All the hotels in the spa area offer treatment centres fully-equipped for mud bath and inhalation treatments and pride themselves on combining the best in traditional spa care with high-level professional assistance in every sector: 240 thermal pools, modern and efficient facilities equipped with the latest comforts and wellness centres.

History at every turn.

It is impossible to remain unmoved by the enchanting beauty of the Colli Euganei. The verdant woodlands and vineyards of these foothills form the backdrop to a countryside still permeated with the fascinating mystery of Medieval and Renaissance knights, lords and their ladies. Old towns, monasteries and stately architecture tell of the history, art and tradition of centuries past. The Colli Euganei are the ideal location in which to admire Venetian Villas: it was here that architects such as Andrea Palladio, Gian Maria Falconetto and Andrea della Valle designed the country estates of the most powerful Venetian families of the day. Among these, the Villa Emo Capodilista La Montecchia, Villa Selvatico, Villa Mocenigo Mainardi, Villa Barbarigo and Villa dei Vescovi are true architectural treasures with their magnificent façades and captivating gardens. The tranquillity of the Colli Euganei and its magical landscape have offered inspiration and refuge to great poets including Petrarch, Foscolo, Byron and Shelley. The Regional Park extends over an area of volcanic origin of approx. 19,000 hectares and can be visited by car, on foot or by bicycle choosing from its myriad panoramic roads and the over 20 trails that flank them. And to keep your palate as fit as your body, don't forget the excellent traditional products and dishes the Euganei area offers, all accompanied by the fine D.O.C. wines produced in this land of many talents.

Crossroads of cultural landmarks.

The Colli Euganei offer a unique opportunity to visit Northern Italy's most spectacular cities, all within easy travelling distance. Padua, Venice, Verona, Vicenza, Mantua, Ferrara: the perfect choice for a holiday or weekend dedicated to sport, art and culture.

Golf Club Frassanelle

The Frassanelle Golf Club is set in the midst of sumptuous grounds designed in the mid-1800s to bring a touch of English charm to the Venetian countryside.

Its wide-open spaces, woodlands and a magnificent lake form the setting of this 18-hole course.

The Club House is a splendid seventeenth-century farmhouse that has been meticulously restored and furnished in the best Anglo-Saxon golfing tradition.

Golfers will find themselves drawn into and fascinated by the golf course designed by Marco Croze with its perfect blend of lakes, streams and green clearings, and their skills and strategic planning will be put to the test by the numerous obstacles, rolling greens and hidden water traps.

Hole 15, known as "La Regina" (The Queen), is unforgettable with its 150 metres par that crosses the main lake to arrive at the green enclosed within a majestic ring of trees. Hole 18 is perhaps Europe's longest

Golf Club Padova

The oldest golf course in the Padua area was founded in 1962 as the Golf Club Euganeo. The course, designed by English architect John

Harris, offered an 18-hole, par 72 course located at the foot of the Colli Euganei with a total area of 70 hectares and including the seventeenth-century Villa Barbarigo. The course is a veritable botanical garden with 8000 trees and shrubs selected according to landscaping and technical criteria, and the result is a championship course that winds its way through strategically-placed bodies of water and sand traps.

In March 2003 the Club opened an additional 9 holes, par 36, designed by architect Marco Croze with a range of modern, technically-varied features. The Padua Golf Club club house is fully-equipped with all conveniences, including pool, tennis courts and gym, as well as a first-class restaurant.
